

Ninth Edition

Be Prepared for the AP
Computer Science
Exam in Java

Maria Litvin
Gary Litvin

Skylight Publishing
Andover, Massachusetts

Copyright © 2026 by Maria Litvin, Gary Litvin, and Skylight Publishing

All rights reserved. No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system, or transmitted, in any form or by any means, electronic, mechanical, photocopying, recording, or otherwise, without the prior written permission of the authors and Skylight Publishing.

ISBN 978-0-9972528-3-5

Skylight Publishing
9 Bartlet Street, Suite 70
Andover, MA 01810

web: www.skylit.com
email: sales@skylit.com
support@skylit.com

1 2 3 4 5 6 7 30 29 28 27 26

Printed in the United States of America

How to Use This Book

The companion website

www.skylit.com/beprepared

is an integral part of the book. It contains annotated solutions to free-response questions from past exams and relevant links. Check this website for current information, and be sure you have the latest edition of Be Prepared.

Multiple-choice questions in the review chapters are marked by their number in a box:

1

Their solutions are delimited by  and .

Our practice exams may be slightly more difficult than the actual exams, so don't panic if they take more time.

The book's review chapters include several worked out multiple-choice questions with three options, marked I, II, and III.

Multiple-choice questions with options I, II, III, will not appear on the AP exams and are not included in our practice exams.

 Braces like these on the margins in the review chapters mark a comment about a feature not tested in the AP exams.

In the free-response questions in our practice exams, such braces indicate suggestions for additional lab work based on our questions. Starter code for these labs is available in Student Files, downloadable from www.skylit.com/beprepared. Complete solutions to the labs are available to teachers; to get access, email support@skylit.com from your school email account and include a link to the school's web page that lists your email address.